Countdown Symfony Day Cologne: Only a couple of weeks to go
Microsoft is new sponsor

2011 is without a doubt a real Symfony year: Symfony Live Events took place in San Francisco and Paris. The Update Symfony2 has been available since summer, Sensio Labs Deutschland was launched and next month, on the 21st of October, 2011 the third Symfony Day Cologne will start at Cologne Mediapark. The Symfony Day is a one-of-a-kind event in Germany. Among the sponsors are Microsoft and Sensio Labs Deutschland.

We invited experienced, competent speakers from all over the world to join this year's Symfony Day and talk about thrilling topics. The key note speaker is Fabien Potencier, founder of Sensio and Symfony's head of development. Other speakers and developers from the Netherlands, Great Britain, France etc. will be present to pass on their knowledge and talk about their experiences with Symfony. We have registered participants from 16 countries to date. All in all, some 300 guests from Germany and other countries are expected to take part in the event.

Four Symfony Framework workshops are scheduled for the day prior to the conference. They are aimed at developers as well as users. The participants can work with Symfony, learn about new features and share their experiences with others.

There are only a few spots left! Therefore, we suggest you sign up on our new website www.symfonyday.com or register for the newsletter in order to receive up-to-date information. We also launched a website exclusively for the Symfony Day which encompasses a detailed agenda.

Symfony is a framework based on PHP. It is available free of charge and has become the most popular programming language for internet application development with the biggest community worldwide!
